

REAKTION

November 2011

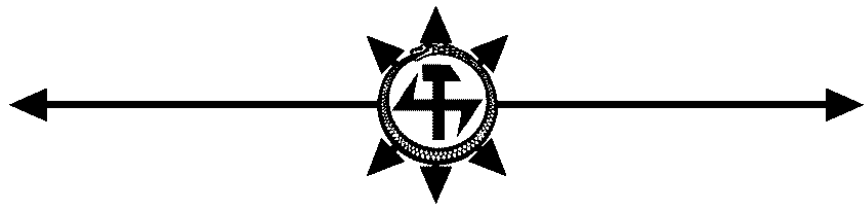

Issue № 1

"The old order must be replaced by a new order for the reform to be achieved. The result of the forceful effort to do this is disorder"

MANIFESTO OF REAKTION

1. we are dedicated to bringing American patriots together in a common cause
2. we are dedicated to winning the lost youth of America
3. we are dedicated to eradicating political correctness
4. we are dedicated to eviscerating the mass ranks of right reaction
5. we are dedicating to preserving strength in America
6. we are dedicated to restoring integrity to the Nation
7. we are dedicated preserving America's position as the world's super-power
8. we are dedicated in returning family values to society
9. we are dedicated to re-structuring the moral fabric of America
10. we are dedicated to preparing the iron youth for revolutionary struggle

Editor Jacob Horst

Welcome to Reaktion!

Reaktion is a new journal. Our philosophy is to provide a medium for all young American Nationalists and Revolutionaries that they may live and understand the revolution. This journal was not made from desire but necessity. No one else has put out anything like this – an authentic Integralist journal that appeals to for a wide variety of Patriots with various political ideas. There are many dormant Fascists in America but no one has yet had the voice to wake them up!

I took it upon myself to take action because nobody so far has had the gumption to do it. The American Fascist Party? What remains of it can only be found on the internet or at a Tea Party rally. The American Third Position seems to be the replacement of the American Fascist Party and it is even worse. Its disappointing single obsession with racialism aside, the conventions of the A3P are so watered down and uninspired it will never make a difference. Moreover they are democrats not revolutionary! At least the AFP WANTED a revolution!

We need to stop failing, we need to do things differently.

We need a fresh start in a new direction then what the AFP and A3P had/has to offer.

We need a medium to serve something to all sides of the board.

We need Reaktion!

In this journal we will examine Integralist movement and ideas from around the world while simultaneously building our own strand of Integralism as we look at the issues that face America with a new light.

The most pivotal time in a man or woman's life is when they come to the realization that the world was meant to be conquered.

This philosophical transmutation begins to spin the axel of desire and sets one in motion towards a manifest destiny.

When one realizes that everything around them can be ripped asunder and rebuilt in their own image they have become great.

Special thanks goes out to our friends in the British Integralist Party. Their support for this journal is what is making it possible.

America's battle is yet to fight; and we, sorrowful though nothing doubting, will wish her strength for it. New Spiritual Pythons, plenty of them, enormous Megatherions, as ugly as were ever born of mud, loom huge and hideous out of the twilight Future on America; and she will have her own agony, and her own victory, but on other terms than she is yet quite aware of." – Carlyle

We will be Victorious!

Why The K?

The answer is simple, we are a reaction against the paleo-conservative reactionaries- the tea baggers- the libertarians. We are a reaction against the neo-cons and all their ilk whose minds are trapped in Glennbeckistan. We are a reaction against Obama and all of liberalism.

'Reaktion' A Germanisation of the word is an acknowledgement of the Anglo Saxon and Germanic heritage that these groups fear, and what American civilization was made from. ReaKtion spells Revival; the past and the future fused together as an attack on the present.

We are a reaction against everything and true only to the spirit of the National revolution.

Why I Support Reaktion

Unlike most of my contemporaries, and come to think of it most everybody, I am very optimistic about the future of the United States. I am not talking about some vague apocalypse theory pipe dream in the distant future, I am talking about here what can be done right now, America has it.

Far too much is made of the progress in Europe; its new far right cultures, something about destiny, Imperium Europas and all that jazz. It is true that there have been some changes over the last few decades, but it is not really anything we can sincerely call progress. Progress entails actually improving our position. All we have done is go from one set of failed approaches to another set of failed approaches.

...so a transatlantic alliance was formed and the people rejoiced!

All this is supposed to lend something to the idea of the unique suitability of Europe, this is ridiculous as it is plain to see we are nowhere. What is really so great about Europe anyway? Yes we have history, a bit of culture, that has its own advantages, but it is the very fact America lacks this entirely produces its own virtues.

It is obvious to virtually anybody that the United States will be the first Neo-Liberal domino to fall; When the economic realities come crashing down on a broken society nature will intervene. The fact the politics of their far right is still in the stone age does not matter, events beyond their control have ordained the war that will happen without them, tomorrow belongs who prepare for the new order. My optimism is therefore predicated on the fact that there exists no course of action left for its salvation but to seek now those steps that will bring an end to the whole rotten system and start again. This is an opportunity that is not shared by we in Europe, who are democratic by compulsion.

A year ago I started a journal in the United Kingdom called ATTACK which called for a 'revolutionary alternative to what currently exists', not just in terms of a revolutionary 'idea' against modern society and for reforming the radical right but in terms of a new type of politics based on working towards palingenesis here and now, starting in the culture.

It is no coincidence that my call to action in the name of the National revolution has been taken up in the United States. America has always been ripe for this movement, from the start she was special, forged in the reality of Man, Nature, and Nature's Law. The qualities that value the heroic, strength, vitality, and extreme individualism that form part of the 'American experience' are alive in the blood and the bone of national life. America is an opportunity, an opportunity that is squandered every day by the current leadership of the far right even the racial far right. That is why America needs this movement, something to give the youth energy, to restore their pride and tribal consciousness.

A TOAST TO THE GLORIOUS FUTURE OF BROTHER NATIONS

There is no need accommodate with any form of conservative reaction, principally because it does not exist, that America is D-E-A-D, the Europeans are right about this, but this is your gift. This is why America is an opportunity to be actively supported. New structures and cultural terrain can be built, go into the millions of dispossessed and win them!

There is no need for a mass movement that the masses will never be a part of, what the masses need is leadership. When it is a matter of survival and desperation the people will look to those men of action who say "I am here! I am here to save you!"

America does not need victims either, I implore you all to reject the victim mentality because such whelks won't be there to cry when America goes down. Live to avenge her.

I know America has the strength it needs, the National youth; hardened, fanatical, ruthless. an example to follow that is worthy of it, something that is inspiring. America can be that example, something for all the others to look up to; America is Europe half a century from now; how the struggle plays out in the United States will be critical for the future of our own struggle and we must learn as much as possible and maximise our gains for when the time comes, and it will come. Now. For the last century we have failed continuously, half of it was bad luck, half of it was incompetence and lack of commitment to our ideals. We cannot afford another hundred years, we will simply go under.

B. Noyles

For the Iron Youth of America

Iron youth of America you are not alone! there are others who are frustrated with the entire messed up system, The left, the right, the politicians. There are others who abide by the flash and circle and the American flag. There are others in black uniforms. There are other Fascists!

But we are all so far apart and there are so many bigots, reds, capitalists, degenerates, and apolitical tools between us. There isn't much of a place to connect with your comrades and half the comrades you do run into are T-Bags in blackshirts.

You're lonely -but you are a torch of light in a cold decadent world. And even though you've risen above the masses by your Fascist virtue there isn't much you can do to change things.

Or is there?

The Internet is your weapon. Find a benefactor or join a group with a low moral standard (this is near impossible but that may change... hopefully) If none of that is plausible you have Reaktion! You can voice your opinion too. The Internet (as much as I hate to say this because it sounds like a rallying call for keyboard commandos) but this is a great way to get your message across, we can amplify your voice.

Keep your cool, it is a bitch -I have no clue I've managed to stay sane all these years... oh wait, I started a journal... It's time for me to get stern but if you're tired of being lonely start a journal for your area -download Linux Multi Media Studio and crank out some Martial Noise, paint a symbol on the side of a building. Do whatever you can to keep that Fascist flame alive in your soul, inactivity is what kills it.

You are not alone, and one day there will be more but until then we have to pool all our resources and creative talents, incompetent and inactive blackshirts are not real blackshirts and they must be shunned. Hang in there... Things will get better. This is the first step

*We're coming back
We're coming back
We're coming back to you
We're never gonna go away again
Hold on a little longer,
try a little harder
'til we're arm in arm together to the end
Don't be worried
Don't be scared
We're fighting to get there
Never doubt we're gonna get through
We're gonna run
We're gonna crawl
Kick down every wall
We wont be long
We're coming back to you
So remember
Out there somewhere
You've a friend
And you'll never walk alone again*

So... You want to write important Fascist stuff?

Many young people who decide they want to start writing material may not know exactly where to begin. A lot of them may think "I'm not the sharpest tool in the shed" and therefore get discouraged.

Well don't worry, Reaktion so far has been an amateur youth effort run entirely on ambition and action. Facts are: anyone can contribute, it's not difficult, you have no excuse, and I can give you the basics here, coming from a blue-collar GED Graduate.

When thinking about writing an article focus on the key question, "how does this help us?" If what your writing won't convey a point and or at least one that benefits the reader than how does that help? Your article has to have a purpose.

What do you have to offer? You have a viewpoint, a viewpoint which is probably developed just to be reading this. That is all we want. Your commentary on anything shot and to the point.

Nobody is looking for an epic of human thought or great literary masterpiece, I mean let's face it - reading Spengler, Evola, Yockey, and Gentile is hard work and damn near impossible to read as it is. They are allowed to do this because they were great thinkers, chances are you are not (yet). Boring articles with nothing to say don't get read - Fact.

I cannot stress this enough, most people reading Reaktion (which is a big document all together) are skimming for the short material, the longer stuff is always saved for a rainy day if it's read at all.

Another thing about writing short articles is on a personal note – I have a full time job and a life. If an article is so heavy and it can't stand up on its own it will require hours of butchering just to make it readable I just don't have. This means it will take a while to get published, it will be broken up into parts, or I will hand it back to you.

I'm not saying I won't accept long articles, It is just the principle that the longer they are the more likely they lapse into inconsistency/ repetition/ blabbering. FUCK some articles the size of short novels have kept me hooked because they were so intense and entertaining.

So what I really mean is cut it as soon as it starts becoming irrelevant repetitive, so there is no limit on how short an article is. Keep formality to a minimum, agitate! Don't be afraid to sound like a demagogue. And lastly, don't be politically correct!!! We're black-shirts, not hippies!

So what do you accept?

We will consider any submissions. It can be the size of a paragraph and does not have to resemble the articles here it could be anything from poetry, to prose, to a fictional story. We are also interested in reviews (Film, Music, and books). We accept any suggestions for existing work we should feature, ideally with a forward elaborating on it. We also accept graphics that meet our standards or something to adapt if you have something in mind for an article you have submitted.

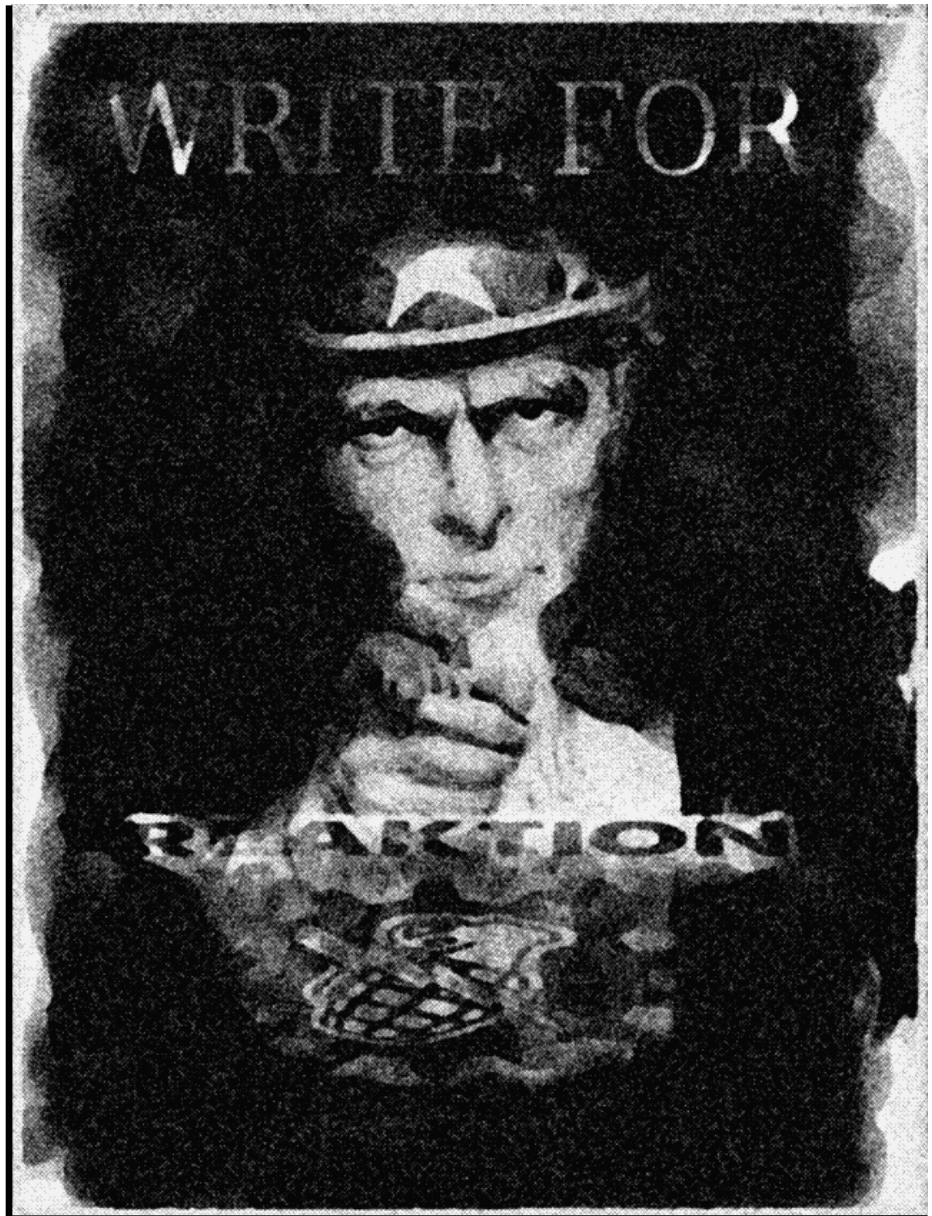

How do I contact you?

My email is

rutledge.jacob@gmail.com

My facebook is

<http://www.facebook.com/profile.php?id=100001788472642>

So it's like blog? (and other elaboration)

Not exactly but think of it that way is something to go by, we have come together to share things we feel are important. When submitting there are some requirements though a lot of what we expect can be worked out just by looking at the journal itself as a guide. The aesthetics are important because we are trying to do something different, if it is something the lowly teabaggers would use then there is already too much of that out there.

What we are looking for are people who will be regular contributors, people who we trust and communicate with us. That way we will be able to produce the more inspired material, for instance just a slogan or propaganda idea you thought of out of boredom. When starting out you'll probably want to write about something you seen or read awhile ago. Something that may be considered 'Old News', this is totally fine and I encourage noobs to do it for practice. If you think you suck, we all suck as writers, and the only thing that can make that better is for you to practice. Remember the future belongs to us and it is your opinions that will have the most currency tomorrow, invest now!

If you are interested or have any questions send a message to the contact address and we will discuss it with you.

REAKTIONARY

Yeah?

Well, this machine kills commies.

THE POLICY OF THE IRON YOUTH IS

ZERO TOLLERANCE

The Jacob Horst song

My eyes have seen, the Second Revolution
Its trumpet sounds, it never will retreat
It lifts its sword to strike out sacred judgement
With weapons drawn, we've never known defeat

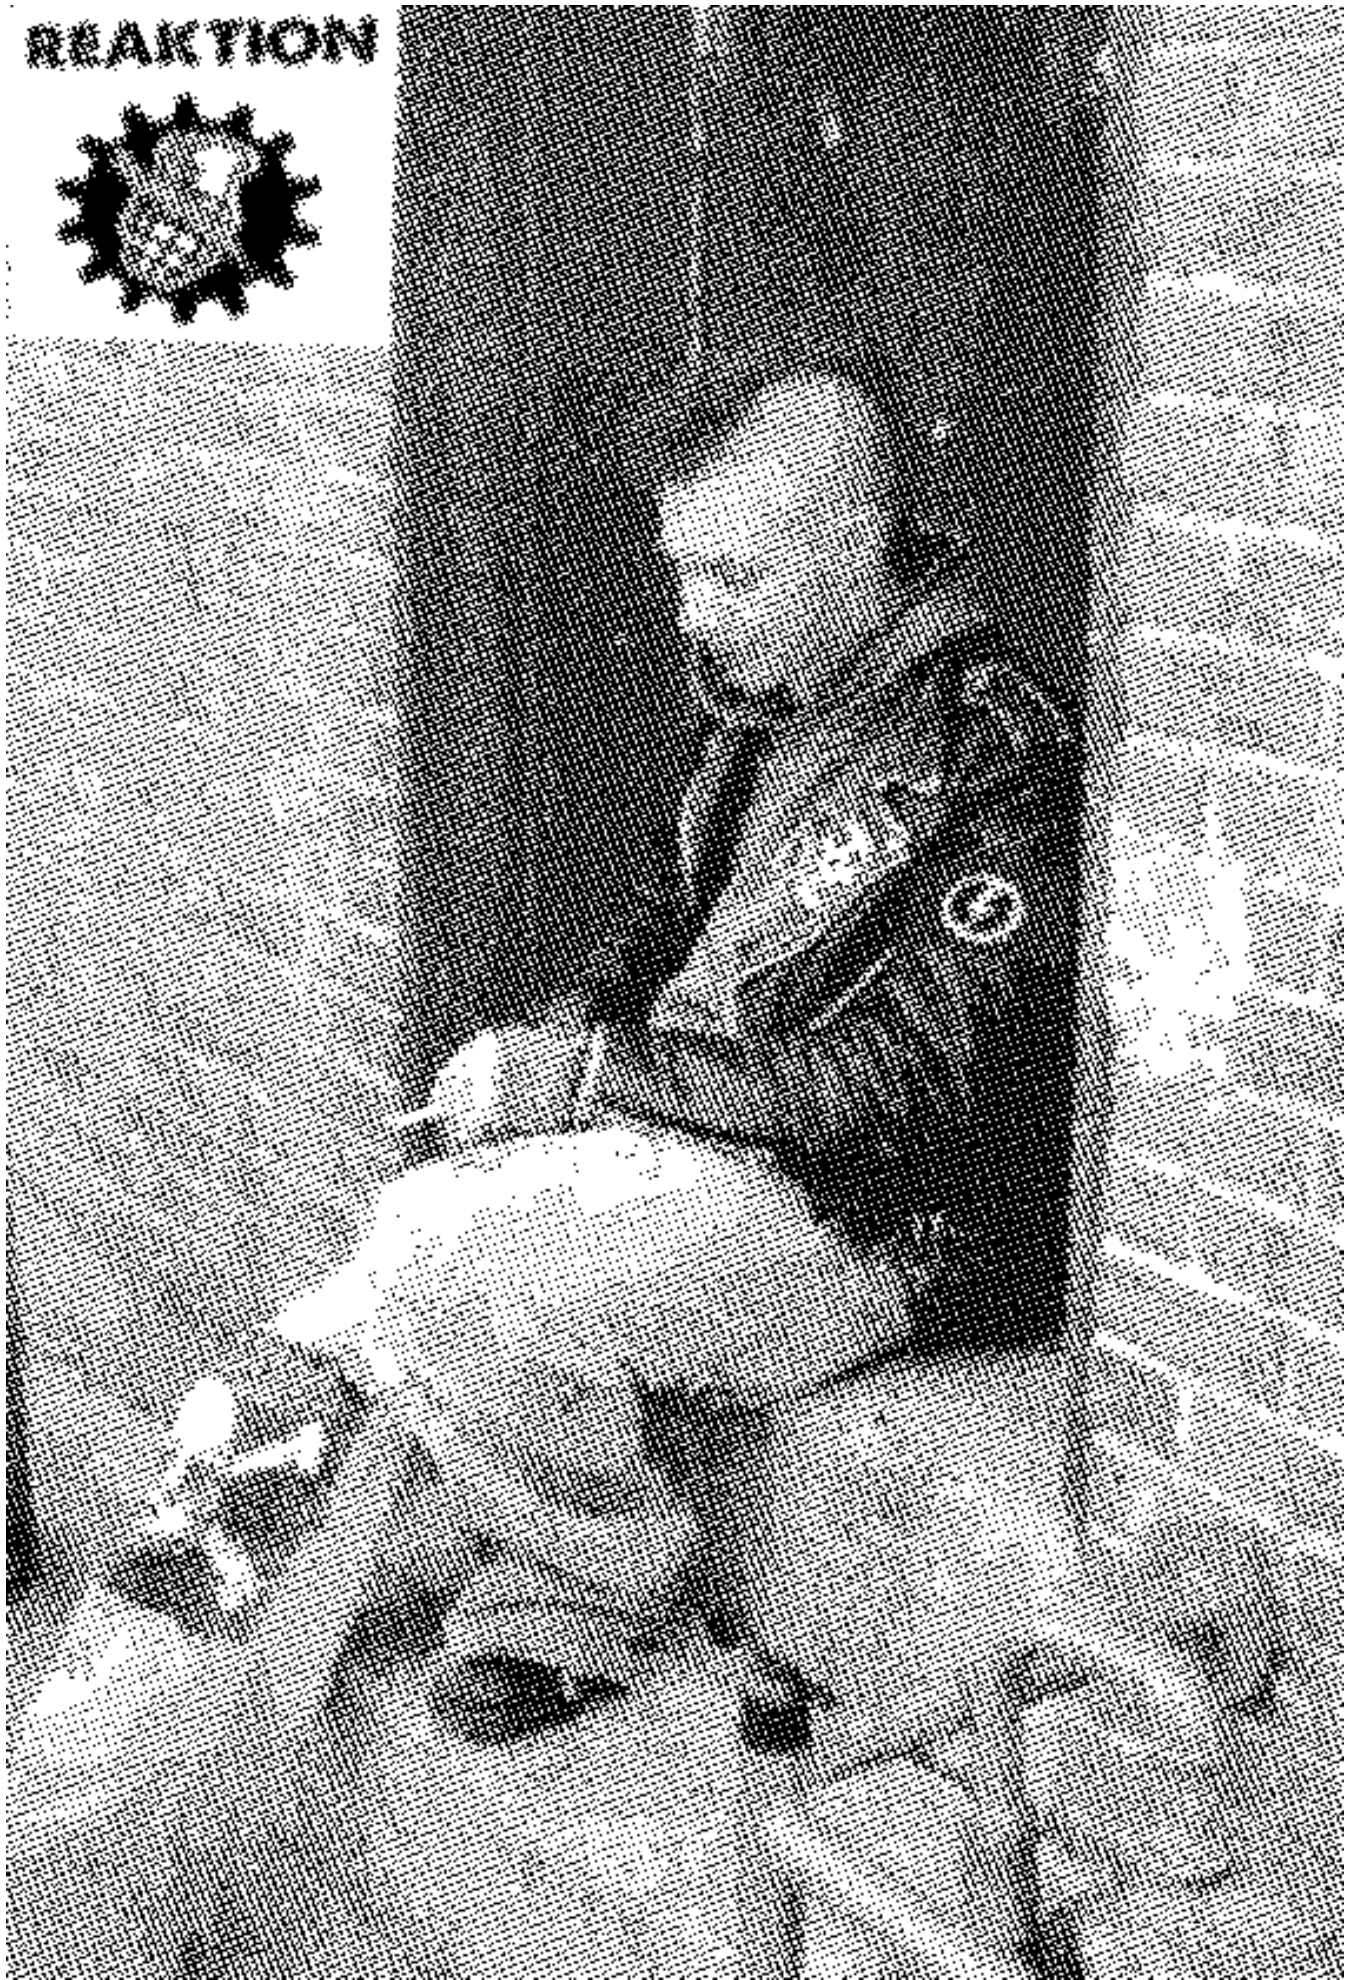

Our ranks are closed, like those who came before us
Those gallant men who never knew dismay
Join in our song, for they still march in spirit us
The ones who won our freedom on that day

Our blood has spilled, in Aztland and New England
To take this land, is still our national fate
Now end the scum, cleanse all the alien traitors
We fight again, to gain the National State

If you can guess the tune you win a gold star.

REAKTION

Capitalist is Communist

Why is capitalism such a sacred cow for American nationalists? Unless you are some kind of inane brainwashed multiculturalist commie moron who has deluded themselves into thinking the world can live like one big drum circle, it is pretty clear to us that this pluralist society is in a state of collapse.

All the time I notice Fox news conservatives go "DERP, gee I thought we beat communism, I dun' get why society is so degenerate and why we are ruled by libewals". just go figure. People were genuinely surprised when in 2008 the Communist party officially backed Obama during the election, and of course they equally didn't care because... well, it's the CPUSA, though even then fox news's screaming monkey with the chalk board took a moment to look a bit confused. The answer is actually very straightforward yet they cannot see it, Maybe I am being too subtle here.

Capitalism blows and anyone supporting it but not benefiting from it is an idiot. By all means if all that matters to you is yourself and you have the money to say 'Fuck you America' and buy your way out, fine, we won't miss you. If you are a true patriot however, there is no choice in the matter. It should be his duty to fight against big businesses that has destroyed the communities and the people that built this country, and put a grey mass in its place.

For the majority of working Americans who hate their crappy job, hate living in an unfulfilling soulless environment, and hate watching a sick and dying country sell itself to the world, they know in their hearts the cause of most of the west's problems if they would only just admit it to themselves.

So why is it then that so called 'anti-capitalism' is monopolised almost exclusively by leftists in the United States, specifically middle class ecofags? It is strange when you consider that Leftists don't consider any of our concerns, in fact they are against them for the most part and go to great lengths to attack them. Democrat and communist bosses don't care about us because in their materialist global view we are part of the privileged west.

These humanitarians are more concerned about the exploitation of labourers in the third world. Just on this point alone I ask so what? I mean, GOOD! The third world is overpopulated far beyond its means to support itself, chances are if their workers are making a comfortable living it means we are being screwed! More over why should I care about them when I have my own people to care about? When can we put the American worker first? Do we have to wait for 'glorious socialism' to arrive in every corner of the world before American workers can be worthy of earning the product of their labor? Why is nobody in the so called 'anti capitalist camp' proposing an alternative system that gives a sustainably, fulfilling, livelihood to the worker? The answer by now should be obvious

The more you look at the problem the more that you realise that all these vocal so called 'anti capitalists' don't even begin to touch on the negative effects of capitalism, and for the most part they actively support it. For them 'anti capitalism' is just a problem of distribution; to which they go to the root cause of the problem arguing for a 'capitalism with a human face'; The idea that capitalism is great at producing things but has ethical flaws that need which require regulation on humanitarian guidelines, blah, ect. And ultimately we are the ones who have to pay for it.

Walk into a Starbucks where all these stupid 'anti capitalists' sip their coffee whilst writing some inane faggotry and they will have all this stuff telling you about how that when you buy their product you are entering into an humanitarian programme to ensure the indigenous peoples of Africa/Latin/China land, get X,Y,Z. The commies and the capitalists walk hand in hand. If you look at America what we have is Left-Wing-Capitalism: the Power of the corporations to carry out the politics of the left, and the left gets everything it wants.

What worker in their right in their right mind wants to be on the left? All the left wants more of the same; they do not seek to overhaul the system, but expand it into a larger welfare state, and for that they need money. That money will come from you, you are weak you can't fight back, you will have higher taxes, longer working hours, less goods, because you have the privilege of saving the planet, and they love it. Oh yes, those capitalists are all very bad and will have to pay in the end but they are really just an essential part of dialectical materialism in history don't you know, nothing personal. You, YOU, on the other hand are a problem, you have crimes against humanity you have to answer for! what crimes? Existing. We cannot allow you to carry on in your reactionary ways, your cultural integrity is an enemy of progress, and you must atone for the blood on your hands, the blood of the natives who you stole this country from. The answer is Immigration It is good for the economy (the engine of universal equality) AND it a way of repaying some of your debt to humanity.

I recently heard a representative from the league of the south on the radio complain he was living under a 'Fascist socialist dictatorship', my question to you is isn't that what this country needs? A fascist socialist dictatorship!? Please! Where do I sign up?

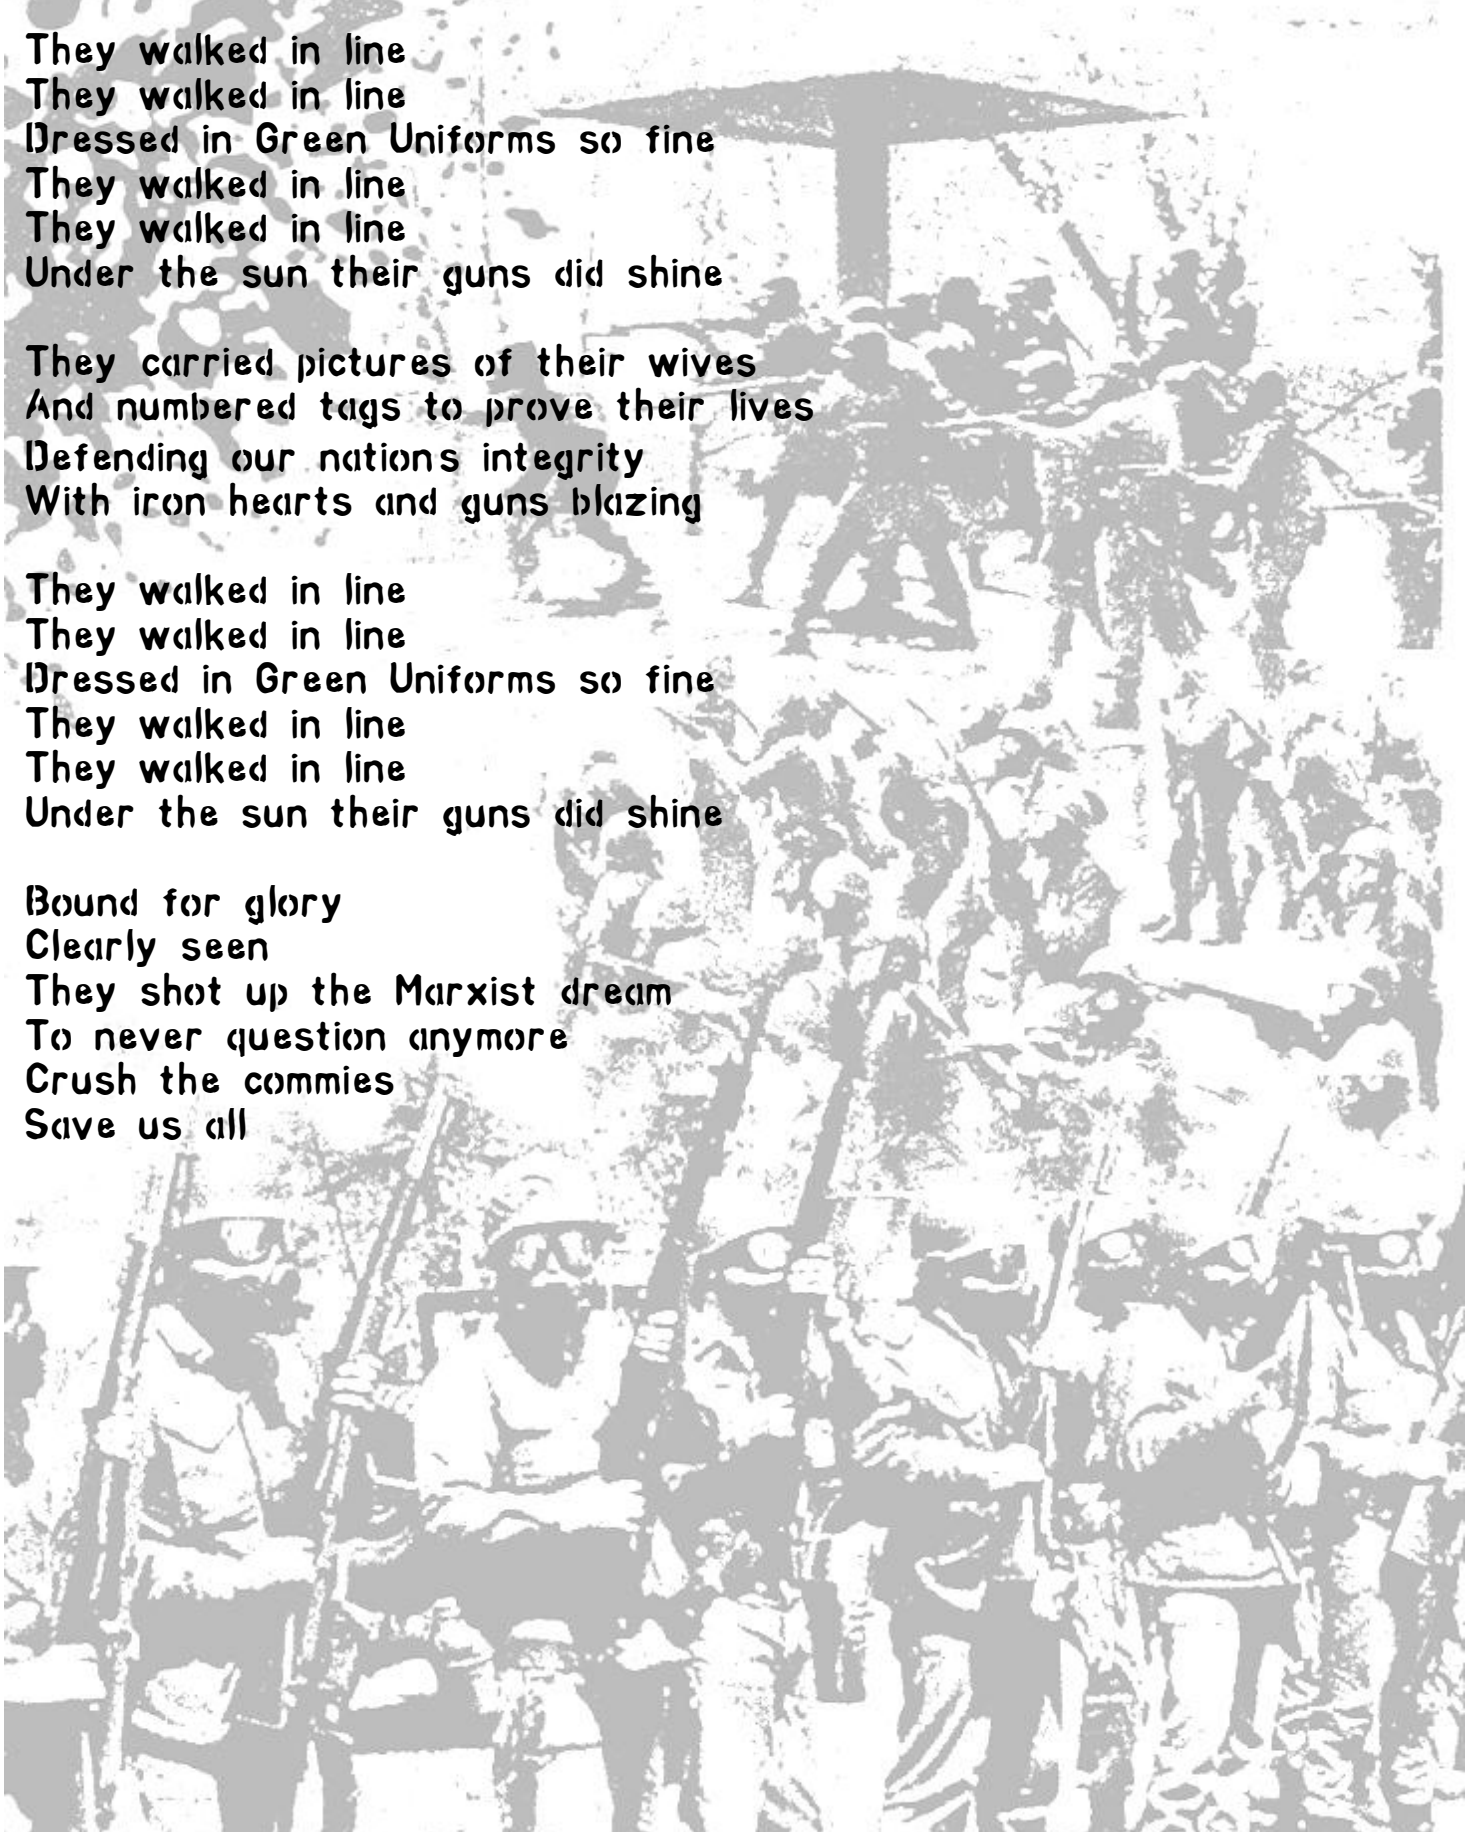

Dressed in green uniforms so fine
Gunned down hippies to pass the time
Not regretting their so called crime
In Kent State they walked in line

They walked in line
They walked in line
Dressed in Green Uniforms so fine
They walked in line
They walked in line
Under the sun their guns did shine

They carried pictures of their wives
And numbered tags to prove their lives
Defending our nations integrity
With iron hearts and guns blazing

They walked in line
They walked in line
Dressed in Green Uniforms so fine
They walked in line
They walked in line
Under the sun their guns did shine

Bound for glory
Clearly seen
They shot up the Marxist dream
To never question anymore
Crush the commies
Save us all

The Chicano Horde

You don't need guns, bombs, and tanks to conquer land unless you want to do it quickly. A more effective way is to somehow emigrate hundreds of thousands of people a week into an area to culturally and physically snuff out the native population. This is how Mexico is indirectly conquering the Aztlands. What makes the situation worse is the border patrols inability to protect our borders; they even retreat from "hot spots" to avoid cross border fire fights.

What is even more deplorable is the fact the Mexican government is pushing for ID cards for illegal immigrants in America because their own population is becoming more and more depleted. You would think with all the factories we outsource to them would be enough to keep them in their own country right? Wrong! The factory workers are paid in peanuts and when they can get better pay doing almost anything in the states its only a bigger motivator for them to come into our lands.

When they come and displace Native Americans whether they are white or black they are only bringing the Aztlands one step closer to assimilation into a Greater Mexico.

What can we do to prevent this? Many things, first we have to create a stronger physical border with actual troops. Second we need to force illegals to register with the states as to make future deportation easier (which will be a long process because the longer they stay in our country the more they become integrated into our economy, the more detrimental it would become to deport them, the solution will be explained later) Thirdly we need to start stripping the immigrants that come into this country the rights full-citizens enjoy.

If we allow the Latinos to keep flooding into our nation they will snuff out the native populations I cannot stress this enough! Chicano Gangsters even go as far as declaring race wars to speed this process up! Secessionist thinking will soon follow... America may have to prepare for war with Mexico in the next 40-100 years...

The almighty dollar will allow what few legal immigrants there are in the Aztlands to build their own businesses and then they'll hire their illegal kinsfolk those allowing greater economic assimilation. This one-two blow of cultural and capital assimilation will cause the Aztlands to become under the control of Mexico.

In deporting illegals there would need to be a process to measure the illegal immigrant-to native unemployed American in the particular state. The illegals would need to be deported slowly as to make sure that Native Americans get their jobs.

Another solution which I am a bit on the fence with is perhaps forcing a regime change in Mexico to help them modernize so their people do not need to come to our country. Creating Mexico into a temporary satellite could be hazardous—the Latinos would gain a stronger influence in the States. But on the other hand we could destroy the drug trade and bring our own businesses back they come to our nation regardless of our outsourcing after all.

Bleeding hearts on the left generally cry out, "They have a right to be here! We stole land from the original Native Americans!" Illegal immigrants have no right in our nation. They bring a plague of crime and an alien culture that harms the indigenous population.

We may have taken this land from Native Americans but the fact is it did happen and there is no sense using a technicality to prevent solutions to the problems that are facing us NOW. Bring the Troops home and place them on the border!

The editor would like to see submissions on how to deal with illegal immigration. Expand on what I said or offer something new altogether, it's not like anyone else has any good solutions....

J. Rutledge

Anonymous

The Thirteenth Amendment allows for slavery as long as it's "as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted". We can make it a federal crime to be an illegal immigrant punishable by slavery after a two month interim period we will provide for them to declare themselves and receive an assisted removal. After that illegal immigrants are to be auctioned as slaves to the highest bidder. The money goes to the state coffers.

Advantages to my solution:

1. Easy government revenue.
2. Manufacturing begins to spring back up in the States, because labor laws only apply to non criminals, so cheap (i.e., slave) labor becomes available en masse.
3. No more Mexicans.
4. Slaves will be forced to integrate into the majority culture.
5. We get to make Mexico look bad by allowing them to bid on their own people.

Disadvantages to my solution:

1. It's cruel, but if we do it across the board, not unusual.
2. Lefties will crybitch even more than they already do, but that's ok because we will shut them all up soon enough anyway.

Anonymous

I propose we buy land along the border states near centers of business. REAL IDEAL locations. Offer them for free to legal American citizens who speak Spanish. At the same time encourage Canada to crackdown on it's illegal immigrants that have passed through the US. 18 months later start cracking down in the big northern cities for illegal immigrants working labor jobs. Deport them to the location farthest from our country in their country. Then give 50% of Aztlan back to the indigenous peoples and any Spanish speakers who want to live there. Redraw the border and withdraw American military and police.

Then hardcore crackdown on illegal immigration everywhere especially at the new border and at any population centers in the interior.

Encourage and support Aztlan to remain autonomous from Mexico and if Mexico tries to invade help Aztlan extend it's borders south.

Encourage European sex tourism in South America so that more and more half-white babies are born down there. Call it a day on all that mess.

Anonymous

Militarize the border. Kill anyone caught within 1 km of our borders who isn't white or Asian and Hispanics without well-proven citizenship. Problem fucking solved. I know this has all been said before and that is why, let's do it.

Anonymous

I suggest the United States carry out a policy of reprisal. For every person we catch trying to smuggle themselves into the Good ol' US of A, we will call in air strikes on a Mexican town, their government will therefore have to take measures to ensure that their citizens do not try to illegally cross the border. In short we will make it their problem.

Anonymous

Immigration reform must be coupled with economic reform. The penalty of stopping all primary immigration can be offset by an increase in working-class wages and lower costs for social services. The upper and middle classes can just afford to pay a little more for their lettuce..

Men Among Concrete

Cities are not natural habitats for humans. The towering concrete monoliths, slithering subways, and congested sidewalks alienate people from each other as they become faceless homunculi amongst a sea of their fellow plebeians. A man can only be confined in a cement and rebar prison for so long before his sanity begins to wane. It is alright for one to earn their living in a city it wouldn't be feasible to stop this, but to live in a city? It should not be.

In addition to alienation from his peers he will lose a sense of his own being as the robotic monotony of a twenty four zoo grinds him down to nothing more than a work unit. What must be done to prevent the city people from loosing their sense of nature? They must return to the countryside our forefathers conquered.

A state institution must offer schools of agriculture and the land that is owned by the state and that has been abandoned or is not used should be distributed to as many urban denizens as possible under the condition they use that land for agrarian purposes: Corn, soy, wheat, livestock. Bio-fuels would become more available and the America would be one step closer to, if not full autarky then semi-autarky.

One of the greatest improvements to America that would be seen under this distributionist philosophy is the recalibration of one of the central pillars that made our nation great –the family. Returning as many of our urban kindred to the countryside would enable them to not only re-connect to the soil our forefathers sprung from but they would be able to toil in peace and always have a financial backup in the event a family member lost their job. The greatest spiritual contribution of distributionism is the ability for men to forge their own worlds on the land they acquire. A man can take the most pride in his work when he works with his own tools.

He can forge his world like the gods forged our planet and with his family can enjoy the fruits of their labor in their own slice of the universe. One of the biggest problems in not only America but the western world is the fact that there are too little capitalists. The small economic elite drives the nation. When more people have the opportunity to build capital with their families the spiritual forces of the dead battalions and settlers manifest themselves once more to drive the country forward through history.

J. Rutledge

Yockey revisited

While Yockeyism is rife in the pseudo-intellectuality of the American radical right (We have some CULTURED and ARTICULATE minds YES, but we won't pretend they are anything more than that) They have either missed or refused to abide by his message.

(All things aside, Francis Parker Yockey was important and American revolutionaries should read his book Imperium for his analysis of the west and how we can defy it's 'inevitable' death and give it new life.)

Yockey's primary message, was to stress the importance of 'cultural vitalism' for revolution, that is agents should broadcast to the European masses and inspire them with the vitality of European revivalism, the vision Europeans as one civilization, a NEW CULTURE that speaks to Europeans and empowers them with the strength that is in them if only they dare want it.

Modern Yocktards take this as the promotion of an inversion of the classical Marxist approach where a revolution and society should be run by salon intellectuals: a top down approach. In this viewpoint there is an inherent disdain for the worker with an assumption that they cannot be trusted to understand the complex things they are fighting for.

It implies intellectual elitism and exclusivity; a war of elites against the backdrop of the mob 'We will bring struggle but only we will understand the nature of it', It is not only an insincere and artificial revolution, it is divorced from reality.

THIS is the root for the problem with our 'leaders', they do not understand that they have a responsibility to their people.

Our Main goal is establishing 'cultural terrain', engaging with the masses and turning them back into our people, our national people: Total art! Total culture! Total society! We are Totalitarian Fascists! Hail the Fascist state!

Yocktards FAIL at this which is why they lounge about playing politics and wasting all their time moaning about the Jews. Elitist, insulated, self serving, self opinionated, self justifying; they act just like the enemy. They ARE the enemy.

We must not fall into the trap of thinking that our goal is specifically to take over the 'culture bearing stratum' itself and become the new bourgeoisie. No, this is not what was meant; forcing the liberal elites out of their strategic positions is primarily so we can tap into the national consciousness.

America is not a country with creative possibilities in the field of philosophy, and its higher understanding of the great realities of our time will come from its deep, determining connection with the mother-soil of the West.

The elements which will enter into the coming struggle between American nationalism and the Culture-pathological element will be numerous. It is probably no longer possible for the American Revolution to take a constitutional form. The perfected parliamentary-electoral techniques of late democratic conditions seem to exclude that possibility. There is left only civil war."

Our aim in America is to destroy the bourgeoisie, and that will only be achieved with a people's revolution.

Too much is made about intellectuality; on the whole it has been bad for western civilization. Most intellectuals hoisted on us have been anti western, all our enemies are intellectuals, our own confused leadership is the reason this liberal disease went unchecked.

It is obvious to see that as our elites become more authoritarian it is us that represent popular will. We must go into the nation and give to it the revolution it needs to win its freedom from the soulless tyranny of liberal humanism and international finance.

"American nationalism has no connection with a grand tradition of life, thought, and action. It finds itself charged with a politically revolutionary mission, but the American people is not revolutionary. Its reaction to a Cultural disease is in a crude racial form. It faces a mighty political task, but is unconscious of the necessities of power-thinking. Its intellect is not free from the superannuated ideology of "equality," born in 1775, and still used by the distorting element for its own purpose....

THE ALL SEEING EYE GAZES UPON OUR NATION WITH DISDAIN, HATRED, AND PITY - AMERICA IS LOST, IT'S ROOTS ARE DYING AS THE SCOURGE OF LIBERALISM TIGHTENS ITS NOOSE AROUND OUR THROATS.

WE HAVE FALLEN OUT OF MEASUREMENT, NO LONGER A SOLID BLOCK OF STRENGTH MEASURED BY THE GOLDEN RATIO OF THE COMPASS. THE ELITISM OF YESTERDAY, THE ELITISM OF STRENGTH, ENLIGHTENMENT, VALOR, COURAGE, AND PRIDE HAVE BEEN REPLACED BY DECADENCE, GLAMORIZED ECONOMIC TREASON, COWARDICE, AND STAGNATION.

OUR NATION AGAINST ALL ODDS DEFEATED THE WORLD'S SUPER-POWER IN REVOLUTIONARY GLORY. OUR NATION CONQUERED ALL AND EXPANDED OVER A CONTINENT TOUCHING TWO OCEANS. NOW IT IS FALLING FROM IT'S PLACE AS A LEADER OF TECHNOLOGY, CULTURE, AND COMMERCE.

NO MATTER WHICH PARTY IS IN CHARGE THERE IS ALWAYS A RECESSION FOLLOWED BY A BRIEF ECONOMIC BOOM THAT CRASHES IN A GENERATION'S TIME. THERE IS NO LEADERSHIP LIKE OUR BELOVED GEORGE WASHINGTON. THERE IS NO INGENUITY FROM BENJAMIN FRANKLIN. THERE IS NO CHAMPION OF THE PEOPLE WITH THE WARRIOR MIGHT LIKE ANDREW JACKSON.

NEW LEADERSHIP MUST BE BROUGHT TO THE TABLE, AND THROUGH A REVOLUTIONARY STRUGGLE AGAINST THE TREACHEROUS CAPITALIST TRAITORS THE WEAK AND BOTCHED WILL PERISH AND A NEW BREED OF STRONG AND YOUTHFUL LEADERS MUST RESHAPE OUR NATION. THE EYE GAZES UPON US AND WE EMBRACE ITS LIGHT AS IT BURNS INTO OUR SOULS LEAVING A MARK OF COURAGE.

ACTION IS NEEDED, WE NEED A MOVEMENT OF BLACK SHIRTED MINUTEMEN TO LEAD THE PEOPLE. WE MUST SET OUR STANDARDS HIGH AND WE MUST NOT LOOK BACK AS WE PRESS ON INTO THE UNKNOWN MIST OF THE DREARY FUTURE.

The Curious Oddity of the Silver Legion

The American Silver Legion was founded by Mystic and Writer William Dudley Pelley (March 12, 1890 – June 30, 1965) in 1933. His political career was curious indeed; it was really just a change up of the readers of his "New Liberator Weekly." He bombarded his readership with anti-communist propaganda. He didn't explicitly attack the Jews at first, he merely referred to the communists as being, "led by dark souls" but that quickly changed as he was traumatized by the sights he saw during the Russian Revolution when he was there as a foreign correspondent.

Today we might not regard Pelley as a Fascist in the contemporary sense of the word, but for his time he was the Julius Evola of American Nationalism and Mysticism.

His professional career was eclectic in the field of writing. He started off writing fiction and screenplays then he moved to journalism and finally to mysticism.

He switched from a career of writing to politics in 1933 when his finances collapsed. He was pushed against the wall and had nothing left to lose and was perfectly aware that his entrance into anti-Semitic politics would ruin any chance of reigniting his fictional career and would make conventional employment difficult if not impossible to find, but after seeing Hitler's rise to power, Pelley was convinced that he could rise to power in the US.

The Silver Legion was characterized by its use of Silver Nazi style uniforms with a scarlet letter "L" sewn on the chest that stood for "Liberty and Loyalty to the Legion," something Pelley's friends and foes quickly picked up on and thus members of the Silver Legion were referred to as "Silver Shirts."

The exact number of members in the Silver Legion is unknown but it was said to be anywhere from 10,000 to 15,000 members.

Pelley's political goals were to transform America into a "Christian Commonwealth" that was, "a social system neither, Capitalism, Fascism, Socialism, or Communism" in fact the state Pelley envisioned was a Theocratic Corporate; centralized production control of government owned industry; civil service style employment protection with private ownership of property, and an all encompassing social welfare program.

To manage and maximize state efficiency the Legion would create the vast Department of Commerce to oversee importing, exporting, and domestic economic activities, an unusual position for such a fierce anti-communist.

Since all means of production would be overseen by the Commonwealth, commerce officials would oversee labor assignments, business transactions, and manufacturing. To ensure everything would be in production and the population's needs would be met annual surveys and inventory would be mandated.

Native born Americans would receive share in the corporate state as part of their guaranteed right. This would ensure an income even if they outright refused to work. As un-Fascist as this sounds this was part of a cultural initiative to help out artists in the Nation.

Pelley also claimed that citizens could also look forward to deriving dividends from stock ownership, but, as the Commonwealth system eliminated capitalist profiteering it was unclear how this would occur (if anyone can shed any light on this let me know.) By undertaking beneficial endeavors for the state, individuals could also obtain merit stocks redeemable for goods and services outside their annual income.

To acquire homes and avoid rent-gouging citizens earned realty stock. Pelley decried the ill effects of loosing the American frontier and like many social reformers he feared the corrupting influences of urban areas. The solution would be congested cities would be razed and apartment complexes eliminated.

He advocated spreading the populace out to give citizens natural and adequate natural space. Realty stock would ensure citizens could purchase the resources to purchase their own homes. The state was to own all the real estate but it would have willingly sold land to citizens at cheap and affordable prices utilizing the freely granted realty stocks and paycheck direct-withdrawal system.

The plan of the Commonwealth outlined a rigid financial system for every American. Citizens would receive checking accounts at the Commonwealth Bank as part of their status as "stock holders in the sovereign corporation. With the adoption of this system paper money would disappear to prevent hoarding and its concomitant creation of predatory wealth. All bank balances were to be canceled at the end of each year. For the same reasons all inheritance with the exception of family homes was prohibited. Pelley hoped that this peculiar system would eliminate "money crimes" (i.e. kidnapping, embezzlement, robbery) usury, advertising, private legal practices, and trade unions.

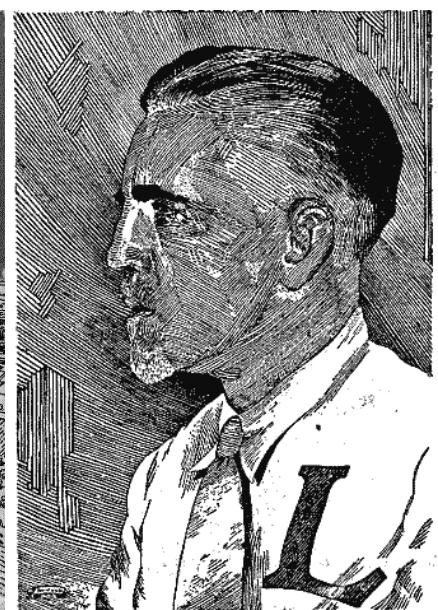

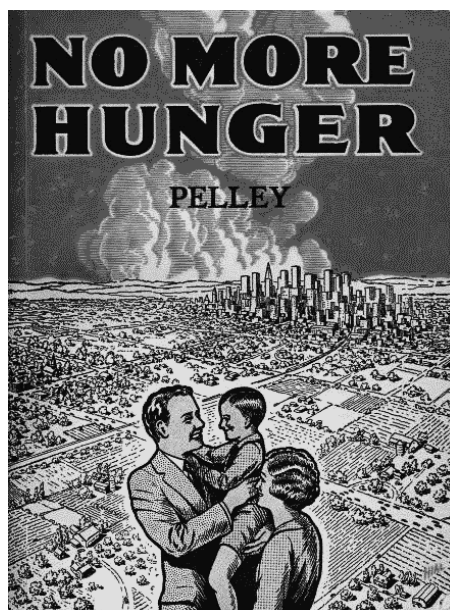

Pelley's monetary system was derived from close reading of Frederick Soddy's "Wealth, Virtual Wealth, and Debt." Soddy and Pelley believed banking was the root of all modern problems and advocated the use of "energy-Certificates" (like Pelley's Checks) to eliminate the "universal conspiracy" of private banking.

The amount each citizen was to receive in his or her account varied depending upon the nature of their work. Every citizen was entitled to an income of at least $1,000 per year which Pelley thought was sufficient for one to live comfortably. Even those who steadfastly refused to work were guaranteed this amount. Pelley hoped this income would encourage struggling young artists to follow their passions without having to get caught up in the rat-race of feeding themselves. This all tied in with his spirituality that every soul reincarnates and must live as long as possible to learn life lessons to progress in spiritual development without having to worry about feeding, clothing, and housing themselves the people would be able to explore more cosmic and spiritually significant ideas.

Pelley's "Hunger System" reflected the Christian value that all citizens had the "right and liberty....to live...devoid of barbaric duress from physical want." The Commonwealth plan prevented any personal income of more than $100,000 per year. Those achieving this substantial income would do so only because of hard work and dedication to the country.

The FDR Administration did it's best to shut Pelley down, and they did. He was purged during the Great Sedition trials where he was locked up after being arrested at his headquarters in Noblesville Indiana during the spring of '42 after he claimed in an issue of "Roll Call" that the attack on Pearl Harbor was worse then what the government was claiming. The sedition charge was dropped but they got him on other charges and he stayed in prison until '52 and released on parole with the condition that he would never become involved in politics again. Because of the low-budget of his publishing and the censorship forced him, his political manifesto "No More Hunger" is extremely rare. I'm still looking for a copy myself.

I will include a page from his text "Ever Man a King." I feel it would be suitable for this journal and it will give us a chance to read a piece of his mind as we gaze through this obscure looking glass. I also hope this tidbit will encourage disparate people and groups to work closer together in our great struggle

Liberation

Vigilance is the Best Security

(From Liberation, Dec. 21, 1939, Vol. XII No.3; not found in Golden Scripts)

EVERY MAN A KING

W.D. Pelley

I have written before, as I now write again.... Great peoples are not ruled from throne-rooms or conclaves, but from turrets in starlight. On the turrets stand Kings ...They reign over Silence.....

And on each turret each King stands alone gazing across his dominions of heart-hopes. It is there that he is sovereign.

He is alone with his burden, his destiny*God*

From that parapet of privilege he looks upon his kingdom, an imperial figure pensive in shadow, yet ever the King in his heart from the largess in his Spirit.

He knows that his destiny is not his own to orderthat he comprises Destiny to those who make up the poem of his sovereignty, tender under starlight.

In the eye of his sincerity he sees his dominions not as far-flung at all, but closevery closeverily compactfor is he not the King? Is it not given unto Kings to see the myriad as the unitto grasp the circle as the segmentto behold the portion as the wholeto note the simplest detail and assign to it an excellence?

The King sees his kingdom as the sire sees his hearthstone set within acreage whose boundaries he knows. How many spears of herbage grow within his fencing he gives such no thought. Rather, is the season's grass abundant that his people's kine may graze and pour milk for many children?

He knows that sleeping beneath his thinking at the hour are saints and rogues, the proud and penitent, the calloused and contrite, those who toil dully, and those that build swiftly in that their trowels are facile with cunning.

But he does not behold the saints and the builders as objects for his accolademore than he sees the knaves and the proud as objects for his censuring.

Being the King, he accepts that God has given his people variation because by such friction comes the larger Cosmic Progress. Even so has God raised the King upon his turret to be a kingthe world not as a goal but as a garden to be tilled.

The King in the starlight stands upon a turret that leaves umbrage far below him.

He thinks above umbrage because he understands that he is not a man. His spirit is an Avatar using the body of a man to inspire his poor mortals above their mortality. He knows that within his kingly scene every man's traits and trends have utility. It is the essence of his royalty that he look above these, beholding the Vision which they cannot grasp, hearing the cosmic tocsin that sounds too deep and strong a note for Little Ears to tune in upon the magic of its harmonies.

It is a kingly thing to plan out marches for armies down the stars, yet be able to condole with a barmaid in a little inn because her poor tankards are awaste with sudden holes!

So each King thinks his thoughts on each turret in the starlight. And what he thinks tonight will be tomorrow's fiator the prate of little councilors believing they themselves have sired what the King has mentored in his solitude, in that he conveyed not his words but his Visions unto them without their suspecting they were caught upon a turret.

Sometimes in a fortunate land there are many kings, on many turrets, afrown with many strategies. If they be true Kings they do not consider each other as rivals, as anglers for elegies and eulogies of poets. They stand as compatriots, sent as Captains of the Horse from the Almighty's Tenth Legion, that the Gaul which is Spirit may be divided in excellence.

In my conclusion, regardless of your views Pelley can be a big inspiration to any American Patriot. He broke off from the traditional Christian right by presenting a revolutionary new concept on spirituality in America. He broke away from the dogmatic protestants stuck in the old enlighten. A new vision of America built from old traditions that he recalibrated to surge America through the misty and unknown future. Pelley knew how to connect with the spirit, subconscious, part of the nation that no one else at the time could. However this didn't stop the powers of the time to purge him and call him a traitor.

His story is strange, he was a strange product for his time but I suppose a great man always is. I personally like to think of his views as "Christian Futurism". His legacy is virtually forgotten. The media never mentions him, its always the German American Bund and why? They want this breed of nationalism to seem "foreign" and "un-American" but Pelley as well as his Legion of Silver Shirted followers are proof that it CAN happen here.

Jacob Rutledge

YES WE CAN!